TART AT PANAMA.
Panama, Nov. 22.—Secretary Tart has sailed for Panama.

CARTER TO HENRY.
Governor Carter communicates with the High Sheriff as follows:
"Dear Sir:—I beg to call to your attention Act 84 of the Session Laws of 1903, in relation to awnings and balconies, which I am told is not enforced."

"I am also informed that there is a law prohibiting any one driving over a bridge of more than ten feet span faster than a walk, and providing a fine. I believe you had better take this up with the Sheriff of the different islands, and see that both of these matters are enforced."

"May I also call your attention to Act 72 of the Session Laws of 1903, providing a penalty for those who rent buildings for immoral purposes. This is an exceedingly strong law, and it might be well to suggest that the newspapers call attention to these laws."

Act 84 regulates the size of awnings built above sidewalks.
